

THE TRAGEDIE OF Troilus and Cressida.

Actus Primus. Scena Prima.

Enter Pandarus and Troilus.

Troilus.

All here my Varlet, he vname againe.
Why should I warre without the wals of Troy
That finde such cruell battell here within?
Each Troian that is master of his heart,

Let him to field, Troilus alas hath none.

Pan. Will this geere nere be mended?

Troy. The Greeks are strong, & skilful to their strength, Fierce to their skill, and to their fiercenesse Valiant:
But I am weaker then a womans teare;
Tamer then sleepe, fonder then ignorance;
Lesse valiant then the Virgin in the night,
And skillesse as vnpractis'd Infancie.

Pan. Well, I haue told you enough of this: For my part, Ile not meddle nor make no farther. Hee that will haue a Cake out of the Wheate, must needs tarry the grinding.

Troy. Haue I not tarried?

Pan. I the grinding; but you must tarry the bolting.

Troy. Haue I not tarried?

Pan. I the bolting; but you must tarry the leau'ing.

Troy. Still haue I tarried.

Pan. I, to the leauening: but heeres yet in the word hereafter, the Kneading, the making of the Cake; the heating of the Ouen, and the Baking; nay, you must stay the cooling too, or you may chance to burne your lips.

Troy. Patience her selfe, what Goddesses are the be,
Doth lesseer blench at sufferance, then I doe:

At Priams Royall Table doe I sit;
And when faire Cressid comes into my thoughts,
So (Traitor) then she comes, when she is thence.

Pan. Well:

Shee look'd yesternight fairer, then euer I saw her looke,
Or any woman else.

Troy. I was about to tell thee, when my heart,
As wedged with a sigh, would rine in twaine,
Least Hector, or my Father should perceiue me:
I haue (as when the Sunne doth light a scorne)
Buried this sigh, in wrinkle of a smile:
But sorrow, that is couch'd in seeming gladnesse,
Is like that mirth, Fate turnes to sudden sadnesse.

Pan. And her haire were not somewhat darker then Helen, well go too, there were no more comparison betweene the Women. But for my part she is my Kinswoman, I would not (as they tearme it) praise it, but I wold some-body had heard her talke yesterday as I did: I will not dispraise your sister Cassandra's wit, but

Troy. Oh Pandarus! I tell thee Pandarus;

When I doe tell thee, there my hopes lye drown'd:

Reply not in how many Fadomes deepe

They lye indrench'd. I tell thee, I am mad

In Cressids loue. Thou answer'st she is faire, Pow'r't in the open Vicer of my heart,

Her Eyes, her Haire, her Cheeke, her Gate, her Voice,

Handlest in thy discourse. O that her Hand

(In whose comparison, all whites are Inke)

Writing their owne reproach; to whose soft seizure,

The Cignes Downe is harsh, and spirit of Sense

Hard as the palme of Plough-man. This thou tel'st me;

As true thou tel'st me, when I say I loue her:

But saying thus, instead of Oyle and Balme,

Thou la'st't in euery gash that loue hath giuen me,

The Knife that made it.

Pan. I speake no more then truth.

Troy. Thou do'st not speake so much.

Pan. Faith, Ile not meddle iust: Let her be as shee is, if she be faire, 'tis the better for her; and she be not, she ha's the meeds in her owne hands.

Troy. Good Pandarus: How now Pandarus?

Pan. I haue had my Labour for my trauell, ill thought on of her, and ill thought on of you: Gone betwene and betwene, but small thanks for my Labour.

Troy. What art thou angry Pandarus? what with me?

Pan. Because she's kinne to me, therefore shee's not so faire as Helen; and she were not kin to me, she would be as faire on Friday, as Helen is on Sunday. But what care I? I care not and she were a Black-a-Moore, 'tis all one to me.

Troy. Say I she is not faire?

Troy. I doe not care whether you doe or no. Shee's a foole to stay behinde her Father: Let her to the Greeks, and so Ile tell her the next time I see her: for my part, Ile meddle nor make no more i'th matter.

Troy. Pandarus? Pan. Not I.

Troy. Sweete Pandarus.

Pan. Pray you speake no more to me, I will leaue all as I found it, and there an end. Exit Pand.

Sound Alarum.

Tro. Peace you vngracious Clamors, peace rude sounds,

Fooles on both sides, Helen must needs be faire,

When with your bloud you daily paint her thus,

I cannot fight vpon this Argument:

The Tragedie of Troilus and

It is too staru'd a subiect for my Sword,
But Pandarus: O Gods! How do you plague me?
I cannot come to Cressid but by Pandar,
And he's as teachy to be woo'd to wor,
As she is stubborne, chaff, against all suite.
Tell me Apollo for thy Daphnes Loue
What Cressid is, what Pandar, and what we:
Her bed is India, there she lies, a Pearle,
Between our Ithum, and where shee recides
Let it be cald the wild and wandering Hood,
Our selfe the Merchant, and this sayling Pandar,
Our doubtfull hope, our conuoy and our Barke.

Alarum. Enter Aeneas.

Aene. How now Prince Troilus?

Wherefore not a field?

Troy. Because not there; this womans answer sorts.

For womanish it is to be from thence:

What newes Aeneas from the field to day?

Aene. That Paris is returned home, and hurt.

Troy. By whom Aeneas?

Aene. Troilus by Menelaus.

Troy. Let Paris bleed, 'tis but a scar to scorne,

Paris is gor'd with Menelaus horne. Alarum.

Aene. Harke what good sport is out of Towne to day.

Troy. Better at home, if would I might were may:

But to the sport abroad, are you bound thither?

Aene. In all swift hast.

Troy. Come goe wee then together. Exit.

Enter Cressid and her man.

Cre. Who were those went by?

Man. Queene Hecuba, and Hellen.

Cre. And whether go they?

Man. Vp to the Easterne Tower,

Whose height commands as subiect all the vaile,

To see the battell: Hector whose patience,

is as a Vertue fixt, to day was mou'd:

He chides Andromache and strooke his Armorer, &

And like as there were husbandry in Warre

Before the Sunne rose, hee was earnest lyte,

And to the field goe's he; where euery flower

Did as a Prophet weepe what it forsaue,

In Hector's wrath.

Cre. What was his cause of anger?

Man. The noise goe's this;

There is among the Greeks,

A Lord of Troian blood, Nephew to Hector,

They call him Ajax.

Cre. Good; and what of him?

Man. They say he is a very man per se and stands alone.

Cre. So do all men, vnlesse they are drunke, sicke, or haue no legges.

Man. This man Lady, hath rob'd many beasts of their particular additions, he is as valiant as the Lyon, churlish

as the Beare, slow as the Elephant: a man into whom nature hath so crowded humors, that his valour is crusht into folly, his folly fauced with discretion: there is no man hath a vertue, that he hath not a glimpse of, nor a man an attaine, but he carries some staine of it. He is melancholy without cause, and merry against the haire, hee hath the ioynts of euery thing, but euery thing so out of ioynt, that hee is a gowtie Briareus, many hands and no vs; or purblind Argus, all eyes, and no sight.

Cre. But how should this man that makes me smile, make Hector angry?

Man. They say he yesterday cop'd Hector in the battell and strooke him downe, the disdaine & shame whereof, hath e
